Preparation.

TAKING WISE COURSE

Naval Committee.

marine and Aeroplane Can not Take Place of the Great Ships of War—The Plans of French Government.

Paris, Feb. 12.—The American naval policy of constructing a big surface fleet instead of relying upon submarine and aeroplanes, were declared as wise and proper, today, by Pierre Dupuy, president of the naval committee of the French chamber of deputies. In an interview with the International News Service.

"The United States is right in constructing a big surface fleet and not relying on submarine and aeroplanes,
which are valuable only as auxiliaries," said Dupuy. "Nothing in the history of the recent war and the experience of science, for the most part, proves that battleships and cruisers are obsolete. However, 15,000-ton ships are to be prepared to one 60,000-ton warship, on principle that a nation should put all its naval eggs in one basket."

"I can not deny the importance of the role the German submarines played early in the war, sinking a number of isolated ships and interfering with the supplies and transports. But the same conditions did not exist at the end of the war. At the end of the conflict, the war was rendered efficacious, seriously against the German submarines.
The frequent destruction of the immense craft had the crews detailed."

"What you ask, can the submarine do in the future against merchantmen armed with rapid-fire guns and defended by torpedoes and warships?"

Submarine Cruisers.

"I do not believe that submarine
cruisers can change the situation,
they are unable to maneuver and use themselves to enemy warships and aeroplanes. Furthermore,
the investigation of big submarines has been perfected. This was proven the recent loss of the British submarine K-5, with a loss of fifty-six men."

"The submarine has advantages
as a weapon of attack while escort-ships, but when isolated, is unable to fight or destruction of the men-of-war and aeroplanes.
In sea warfare has made it easy
to detect the presence of submarines.
At the beginning of the war, the submarine made the mistake of navigating in dispersed order. Later, when they were reinforced by destroyers and aeroplanes, they moved in groups along secret routes and the idea of being torpedoed was reduced to practically nothing. Look at, for instance, to the manner
which the United States transports are brought the great American fleet across the Atlantic in safety.
The vessels came in groups."

France contemplated, for 1921,
the construction of six middle-sized battleships, twelve destroyers and the submarines. We believe that sufficient for this year."

Governor.

Speaker Beetham Gives a Statement Today.

Strong Opposition Is Developed
to the Classification of Property in Ohio for Taxation Purposes. It Is Observed.

Columbus, Feb. 12.—Although final word must come from the state legislature, members stand ready to listen to the advice of Governor
Davis, to the people, or to representatives of various organizations,
relative to proposed legislation, declared Speaker Beetham, of the house, today.

"There are no sore spots in the house," said Speaker Beetham, referring to published statements that some legislators felt hurt, believing that the governor has been issuing premature statements and taking undue credit relative to legislative matters.

"We shall be pleased to have the opinion of the tax committee of nine, appointed by Governor Davis,
or the advice of any other committee," continued Speaker Beetham.
"An indication of how the governor stands on various measures from time to time, also, is valuable. Of course, the final word must come from the general assembly. That is the purpose for which it was elected.
It is the assembly that must take the responsibility."

Opposed to Bill.

Columbus, Feb. 12.—Declaring that farmers and home-owners are opposed to classification of property
for taxation purposes, Representative
John H. Chester, Paulding county,
president of the Corn-Stalk club,
made up of house members from agricultural counties, has issued a statement to members of the club
urging them to consult with farm
and home owners in their counties
before supporting the Silver measure, which seeks to repeal the uniform rule, but limits the rate on real estate to 1.2 per cent., unless more is voted by the electors in any taxing district.

necessary to win the war and we went about building them in the best way possible, under the conditions which confronted us," Edward W.
Hurley, former chairman of the shipping board, today declared before the Walsh house committee investigating the board's shipbuilding accomplishments.

Hurley, in a frank portrayal of conditions, admitted many mistakes
in his administration, but declared
his policy was "not to make the same mistakes twice."

House Amendment.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The house amendment to the seamen's act of 1915, permitting the extension of the summer tourist season in the Great Lakes from May 1 to October 15,

sent, so as to authorize vessels to carry an increased number of passengers two weeks earlier and a month later, was ordered reported favorably to the senate, today, by

CHICAGO DOCTORS BAFFLED BY CASE

Child Talks Constantly for Several Days.

Waukegan, Illinois, Feb. 12.—
Chicago's leading physicians are baffled today, by the case of Miriam,
eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rabind here, who has been talking constantly since last Saturday, despite all efforts to stop her. She has kept up the conversation with members of the family and attendants ever since sleeping only two hours, last Monday night, during which time she continued talking.

Theory was advanced at first that the malady might be a forerunner of sleeping sickness or porphyria, but this is now discounted. Her appetite has been quite good during her "talking sickness."

PROSECUTION IS DOUBTFUL

Developments in McGannon Case
Perplexing.

STATE'S COUNSEL
TO MAKE A PROBE

Will See That Any Perjurors Are Quickly Punished—End of Trial in Sight.

Cleveland, Feb. 12.—When court
reconvenes, Monday, after the holiday, Judge Homer G. Powell will pass upon the admissibility of any of the evidence given by Miss May
H. Neely, whose refusal to answer questions propounded by the state
yesterday, in the trial of William H.
McGannon, charged with having fired the shot which killed Harold
C. Kargy, his friend, completely unsettled the plans of the prosecution.

Attorney W. H. Boyd, chief counsel for the defense, insists that her entire testimony should be thrown out, while Prosecutor Edward S.
Stanton believes that it should be permitted to go to the jury for what it is worth.

Beyond asserting that he would see that if there was any perjury committed by witnesses, "that it would be punished by swift prosecution, the state's counsel refused to comment upon the unusual situation.

Whether or not the prosecution
will rest its case upon the completion of Miss Neely's testimony is now undetermined. Should this be done, defense attorneys have indicated that a motion will be filed to take the case from the jury and have the court direct a verdict for the defendant, as thus far no witness has testified to the commission of the act charged.

Attorney W. H. Boyd this morning told the International News Service that plans of the defense were undetermined, in view of the unexpected attitude of the state's chief witness.

"It but confirms my views that the stories told by many witnesses
for the prosecution were 'fairly tall,'" he declared.

"Judge McGannon will testify in his own defense," he was asked.

"That goes without saying," he replied. "Whether we will find it necessary to call all witnesses under subpoena is doubtful. However, The state has not yet called either Goss or Wilson, main witnesses in the former trial. Whether they will do so, I do not know. Our plans depend upon their action."

Prosecutor Stanton indicated that the state would probably close its case, Monday.

Goss to Fight.

Dayton, Feb. 12.—G. W. Goss, who several weeks ago made an unsuccessful attempt to hold up the Ypsilanti bank, started a new

bers of the family returned

of used towels scattered about

BATTLE LASTS A FEW SECONDS

Between 100 and 150 Shots Are Fired at Matewan.

FIRST WITNESS
ON STAND TODAY

First Shot Fired from Under Door
of Hardware Store—Story of Eviction of Miners.

Mingo County Courthouse, Williamson, West Virginia, Feb. 12.— Between 100 and 150 shots were fired in the "battle of Matewan,"
which lasted "only a few seconds," testified John McDowell, a Baldwin-Fells detective, first witness in the "trigger trial," today.

His story was, in effect, that told exclusively to the International News Service, a few days ago, by Tom Fells, head of the Baldwin-Fells detective agency.

McDowell was a participant in the battle.

McDowell declared the first shot was fired from under the door of the hardware store.

[The battle took place in front of Chambers' store, just opposite the railroad station.]

He said he "saw somebody fall"
in the place where Albert Fells had stood when the shooting began. He did not know who the victim was.

McDowell was one of the thirteen Fells detectives who had arrived
striking miners and their families,
the day of the battle.

He said he had a rifle and revolver,
both loaded, on the "trigger trip."

"Why did you load your rifle?"
asked J. J. Connel, examining the witness.

"I thought I might need it—somebody might take a shot at me."

By "somebody," he said, he meant miners.

The state showed its hand on the evidence from, early in the examination. Captain Arls presented the prosecution had twenty-five other shots to prove full liability of certain persons of the battle.

The state made it plain that its case
was on the evidence coming in from
the "trigger trial," today.

CANADIAN RUM FLOW IS HEAVY

Detroit a Bridgehead for Booze
Traffic.

HARD PROBLEM FOR FEDERAL OFFICERS

Cheap Liquor Is Found Very Easy
To Get.

Tide of Booze Too Great for the Patrols—Lake and River Open to Motor Launches and Small Boats in Traffic.

Detroit, Feb. 12.—Detroit, the main bridgehead for inexhaustible supplies of whisky reputed to be both good and cheap, presents one of the hardest problems with which prohibition officers of the United States are confronted.

Whether Canadian-made and imported liquors are better or even as good as the Kentucky, Pennsylvania and other American whiskeys still finding their way into Ohio is largely a matter of taste, but certainly they are cheaper and just as easy to obtain.

Once one of the "wettest" cities in the country and fairly wide open
long after the electors of Michigan had voted it "dry," Detroit today is observing the prohibition law as well as any large city in the United States
—and better than most.

Federal Prohibition Agent James
W. Jordan does not delude himself over some Detroit bars or that there are no places in the city where whisky can not be bought by the pint or quart at reasonable prices.

But prohibition agents in the fourth city have a bigger problem
than that of checking the retail traffic in "booze."

Liquor plentiful nearby.

Right on the Canadian border and within a few minutes' ferry ride
from a country where Scotch whisky
can be bought as low as $23 a case
—not a quart, but a case of twelve quarts—Detroit naturally becomes a clearing house for a huge wholesale trade in wines and spirits that come to the American continent from all parts of the world.

Manifold tales of giant bombing planes winging their way across Lake Ontario and the Detroit river and depositing large stores of liquor
in Michigan are not given much credence by federal or city authorities, but day and night, when lake
and river are open motor launches
and small boats cross the invisible border line and land their illicit merchandise on the American shore.

"The vigilance of inspectors who look at everyone coming into Detroit
by way of the ferry from the Canadian city of Windsor and occasionally 'frisk' a pocket or open up a grasp seems but feeble precaution
when one thinks that, with Detroit as its center, there is a river and lake shore line of close to 100 miles to be watched."

Patrols Can't Mean This.

"It would require an inspecting force of a thousand or more men
to make the border patrol really effective," Mr. Jordan says. "And if you had a thousand patrols you couldn't stop Canadian whisky
coming into this country," he added.

Ontario, like Michigan, of Ohio, is a "dry" area so far as saloons are concerned, but Canadians may have wines and spirits shipped to their homes and if you can not readily obtain a Montreal price list in Detroit all you have to do is to slip over the river to Windsor.

Montreal wholesale wine and spirit dealers had champagne on low price for a dozen quarts, Burgundy
for $16.50 a dozen and "50-year-old brandy" packed in four-bottle cases at two dollars a bottle.
Port wines cost $16 a dozen and standard brands of Scotch and Irish whiskeys, aged and unaged, can be bought for less than these defined a quart. Imported wine are available as low as $19 a dozen
and run from $15 upwards.

Protest New evidence "that strength" and "full strength" and
"superior to the day the other is received."

Whisky coming in the night
head of two dollars a quart as Canadian whisky is the most
and a ready supply of evidence of the state's case.

The state's case is on the evidence
coming in from the "trigger trial," today.

The state made it plain that its case
was on the evidence coming in from

termediate stores or public-owned and controlled markets can be ac-

MAKES DECLARATION

German View of Indemnity To Be Paid.

German Delegation Will Leave
Late This Month, for London,
Where German Indemnity
Conference Will Open.

Berlin, Feb. 12.—"We are going to London not to accept the allies'
dictation, but to make an offer,
which will not be a small one either," declared Minister of Finance Wirth, in a speech before the Bremen chamber of commerce, dealing with German indemnity, according to advices from Bremen, today. The finance minister was quoted further
as saying:

"For the purpose of carrying out our offer, there must be the most complete reorganization of labor in Germany."

"America must participate when the industrial leaders of the whole world gather about the conference
table. If all countries do not cooperate, the best plans will remain
only theories."

The German delegation will leave late this month, for London, where the indemnity conference will open,
March 1.

Two Killed.

Dublin, Feb. 12.—At least one British army officer was killed and a number of other officers and privates were wounded, in a desperate battle with Sinn Feiners, on board a train, early today. There were fourteen British officers and privates
on the train, which was bound from Dublin to Killybegs. Two armed Sinn Feiners boarded the locomotive and ordered the engineer to go at full speed for twenty miles. After this burst of speed, the engineer was ordered to stop the train at a deserted spot where the telegraph wires had been cut. Two hundred men then opened an attack against the coach in which the soldiers were riding. There was a terrible fusillade of shots

RELATIONS OF UNITED STATES

Big Topic for Discussion at Coming Conference.

CHARLES E. HUGHES WILL MEET HARDING

Many Important Matters of Nation Will Be Discussed, It Is Believed

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 12.—Charles Evans Hughes, who, it is believed, will be secretary of state in the next cabinet, will come to St. Augustine within a week to confer with President-Elect Warren G. Harding on important international questions to be dealt with by the incoming administration.

First in importance among the subjects to be discussed between the president-elect and his premier will be that of international disarmament. It was learned yesterday, Mr. Harding already has stated his approval of plans to have the United States take the lead in a concert of powers to bring about disarmament, and Mr. Hughes, as secretary of state, would negotiate with the other governments interested.

Other important matters involving the foreign relations of the United States also will be discussed at the meeting between Mr. Hughes and the president-elect.

Martin Gilman, of Racine, Wisconsin, who was appointed by President Wilson to be a member of the shipping board, yesterday, discussed with the president-elect a plan to bring about greater cooperation between the shipping board and the department of commerce in the extension of foreign trade.

John Barrett, former director of the Pan-American union, following a lengthy conference with the president-elect yesterday, expressed the belief that the new administration would cement political and commercial relations with the Latin-American republics by the appointment of men of high capability to diplomatic posts in those countries.

A permanent era of friendship and cooperation with Mexico could be effected by a closer understanding with the Obregon government, Mr. Barrett said.

Mrs. Warren G. Harding, accompanied by Dr. C. E. Sawyer, of Marion, arrived at St. Augustine last evening, her train having been delayed almost two hours by the derailing of the baggage-car near Charleston, South Carolina. The president-elect motored to St. Augustine station to greet Mrs. Harding and her old friend and physician, Dr. Sawyer. Mrs. Harding will remain here until the president-elect returns to Marion, February 23.

RESERVATIONS FOR WASHINGTON TRAIN

Reservations for the special train to Washington for the inauguration of President-Elect W. G. Harding March 4 will close Tuesday, according to announcement made today by the committee in charge of arrangements. It was pointed out that the contract for the train must be made with the Hocking Valley Railway company Wednesday and that persons who fail to make reservations can not be accommodated on the special.

According to present plans, the special will leave Marion at 11:20 o'clock on the morning of March 3 and arrive in Washington early the following morning in ample time for the inauguration ceremonies. Passengers will be entitled to the use of Pullman berths during the stay in Washington and the excursionists will start on the return trip at 11:30 o'clock the morning of March 6, arriving in Marion early Monday morning.

BASKETBALL

Legion Game Tuesday Night.

Lovers of basketball will be afforded a real treat at the armory, Tuesday night, when the American Legion team of Bucyrus, will meet the local American Legion team. The Bucyrus team defeated Marion's city team twice during the early part of the season and is a fast aggregation. The local American Legion team is considered a faster team than the former city organization, and regardless of the result the game will be a hard fought one.

The local team has been making a fine showing and this week defeated the fast Mendels, champions of Columbus. The local fans have not been turning out in support of the team as they should and the local team has been playing at a loss in the hope that the attendance will increase sufficiently to at least meet the expenses. The team is a fast one and deserving of the support of all the fans, and an effort is being made to secure a large representation of local fans at the game Tuesday night at the Bucyrus team expects to bring a large delegation of fans.

ISSUES APPEAL TO WORKERS IN PANAMA

They Are Asked To Refrain from General Strike.

Balboa, Panama, Feb. 12.—Acting Governor Morrow, of the Panama Canal zone, issued a public appeal, today, addressed to all employees on the canal, asking them not to participate in their threatened general strike.

The trouble started with the machinists, who demanded an increase in pay of six cents an hour. At present, they receive $1.11 an hour. The acting governor asked all employees to "waiver their loyalty to the United States government and their good sense, by not striking."

The canal authorities declare they are prepared to keep navigation open on the canal, even if the strike goes into effect, although they admit that it might temporarily cripple the repair shops which are permanently stationed here.

AIRCRAFT TO BE GIVEN A TEST

Given Old Ships To Be Used as Targets.

TO DEMONSTRATE UTILITY IN BATTLE

Effect of Bombs Dropped on Ships To Be Learned by Extensive Experiments.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The secretary of the navy is directed to turn over one battleship, two destroyers and two supply ships which have outlived their usefulness, so they may be used as targets in extensive tests to establish the vulnerability of such vessels to aircraft attacks, by a resolution introduced in the senate, today, by Senator New, Republican, Indiana.

The resolution declared that the tests proposed may result in the future development of aircraft and naval defense being radically changed. It stated while the world war demonstrated the offensive powers of aircraft, together with the possibilities of its development as a means of national defense, no missiles as yet have been actually dropped from aircraft upon a target for the purpose of ascertaining the full effect of such missiles in war warfare. It also provides that the army air service shall join in the proposed tests.

CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBTS

Great Britain Makes Efforts To Avoid Payment.

TREASURY SECRETARY N WITNESS STAND

Tells English Authorities They Must Meet Obligation of $4,000,000,000.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Repeated efforts by the British government to have the United States government agree to a cancellation of remission of the $4,000,000,000 war loan made by this country to the British, were revealed today, by Secretary of the Treasury, David Houston, to the senate foreign-relations committee, when he appeared before it in a protracted executive session.

Questioned concerning his purpose to make additional payments on credits already extended to France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Greece and Liberia, Houston said it was "very possible" that further payments would be made by these nations. Legal action has been brought, against the secretary by William Randolph Hearst, to prevent such payments.

Houston was understood to have declared in detail several successive and distinctive moves by the British government to persuade him and other officials of the United States government not to press payment of either the interest or principal due on the tremendous sums Great Britain still owes this country.

Secretary Houston said he had firmly but politely informed the British they were and would be expected to pay up and he, as secretary of the treasury, could not and would not take any steps toward complying with the British requests for a cancellation or remission of this country's indebtedness to this country.

Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, when he emerged from the secret session before it ended, said he had been "favorably impressed" by Houston's explanation of how he had denied Great Britain's continued and insistent demands.

"Mr. Houston told us he informed the British government it would have to pay up," Hitchcock added. "I consider his handling of the matter as very satisfactory."

Houston's "explanation" of his conduct of the treasury department's foreign fiscal policies, was also declared by Senator Lodge, Republican, of Massachusetts, chairman of the committee, to have been "eminently satisfactory."

It was also ascertained Houston told the committee the British government has not been the only European nation urging the cancellation or remission of the billions loaned by the United States to war associates in the world war.

The proposal for a pooling of the war debt, and the suggestion the United States not exact payment of principal or interest of the enormous sums due her was originated by France at the peace conference, Houston pointed out and "have been going on ever since," he added.

France has been the leader, "all along," in negotiations to wipe out her and the indebtedness of other European nations to this country and Houston is but one of a number of American government representatives, who have repeatedly turned a deaf ear to all proposals or suggestions made to that end, members of the committee stated.

While the committee adjourned, after listening to Houston behind closed doors for more than three hours, without taking any action on the matter, the consensus among its members was that any of the proposals or suggestions to the same end should and must be turned down.

"They must and shall pay," was the burden of statements made privately by committee members, both Republican and Democratic.

Questioned regarding his purpose to make additional payments on credits already extended, or commitments already made with France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Greece and Liberia, Houston admitted as he had previously done before the senate judiciary committee, it is "very possible" such payments will be made. He repeated his plan, it was understood, that it would be "very unfortunate" if the United States government were not to meet certain financial obligations it was under to France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Greece and Liberia.

Pressed as to the amount of these "obligations," represented Houston, it was said estimated them at $75,000,000, but stated he thought half of this amount would be sufficient to meet the payments, or credits he contemplated making before his retirement from office March 4.

BOY GETS NICKEL FOR FINDING ROLL OF $100

Then Stranger Is Overtaken by Perish in Their Burning Home in Memphis.

Mrs. Dennis Tierney, wife of the proprietor of a restaurant in the Miller market, had $100 taken from her yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock at the restaurant. Mrs. Tierney recovered the money and no arrest was made.

Mrs. Tierney had just paid a bill and had put the money in her pocket. The bill had slipped to the floor and was noticed by John Keeler, of North Prospect street, a newboy, who was about to call Mrs. Tierney's attention to it when a stranger told him he had dropped the bill and gave him a nickel for finding them.

The stranger and a companion hurried from the building and another man, who was the only other person at the counter, called Mrs. Tierney's attention to the incident and she hurried after them. She overtook them at the corner of the F. E. Bents store across the street.

She said to the man she recognized as the one who had sat beside her: "The money you stole is mine." The man answered: "For God's sake, take it!" He then ran. Mrs. Tierney said she afterward learned the man's name by going to the hotel, where he was stopping.

O'CALLAGHAN CASE A MYSTERY TODAY

Labor Department Out of Touch with Man.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The case of Donald O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, is a mystery at the labor department, today. Secretary of Labor Wilson, several weeks ago, issued an order to Michael Francis Doyle, of Philadelphia, one of O'Callaghan's attorneys, that O'Callaghan must leave the country by February 11.

Secretary Wilson, today, refused to see newspaper men to discuss the case.

Acting Commissioner of Immigration Hampton said he had no knowledge of any order for O'Callaghan's deportation.

At the office of Assistant Secretary of Labor Post, it was stated that there was no information concerning O'Callaghan's departure from the country.

TWO WOMEN AND TWO CHILDREN DEAD

Memphis, Tennessee, Feb. 12.—Two women and two children perished in a rooming-house fire here today. The victims were Mrs. Thekla Simmons and her two children, Helen, age and Nellie, four years old and Mrs. Simmons' sister, Mrs. Lydia Newman. Mrs. Simmons lost her life in the effort to save her two children, but her attempt at rescue came too late. Cut off from the house when she tried to escape, she was trapped in front, where she was sought in that direction.

Mr. Newman, husband of the fourth victim, leaped from a second-story window, thinking he had his wife in his arms.

Picked up in a dazed condition on the sidewalk, it was found that in his terror he had grasped only his wife's waist and skirt and some clothing upon which they lay on the bed.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

To End Bad Dreams.

Loral, Feb. 12.—Frank Bard, aged thirty-five, is lying in St. Joseph hospital in a dying condition, after having attempted to end his own life last night, by cutting his throat with a razor in his room, after he told his boarding mistress, Mrs. Mary Chisna, that he had been haunted by bad dreams for several nights past and was determined to stop the dreams by ending his life.

GENERAL WAGE CUT NOT LIKELY

Railway Executives Are Not Considering Matter.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—The railroads plan to ask conferences with the unskilled employees over wage reductions in order that the matter of cuts for common labor may be brought before the war labor board in the form of definite controversies between men and management.

The railway executives will meet Feb. 18 to discuss means of getting the question of a revision of wages of unskilled labor legally before the board, which ruled Feb. 10 that it could not act on the roads' plea for abrogation of the national agreement for unskilled labor, which was asked because of the financial condition of the roads. Matters of finance belonged before the interstate commerce commission, the board said.

A general reduction in wages of railway employees is not being considered by the railway executives, which represent 90 per cent of the trackage of the country, according to a statement issued by Thomas Hewitt Cuyler, chairman of the association.

Cuyler's statement came in response to reports circulated in railroad and union circles that the meeting of railway executives called for Feb. 18 would discuss plans for a general wage reduction on all roads. Such a proposition never has come before the association or its labor committee, Cuyler said.

LINCOLN HUMAN IN EVERY LINE

Yet "a Man of the Ages," Says Sculptor.

GUTZON BORGLUM TALKS OF LINCOLN

Gives Conclusions After Years of Study of Subject He Presents in Great Statue.

New York, Feb. 12.—To Gutzon Borglum, the American sculptor who came out of the West and after years of study produced a statue of Lincoln that compels comprehension of him as truly a "man of the ages," the International News service went for a new message about "Abe." The errand was not futile.

Pausing from his work on a heroic war memorial, the sculptor drew up a chair near a stove in his unpretentious but picturesque studio and spoke of Lincoln with animation, admiration and reverence. Asked what outstanding thing he found in Lincoln, Borglum replied:

"Lincoln was the only great Republican representative that we have had, since Roosevelt or Cleveland, unless the beginning of our country. The latter two had some of the same characteristics and might have developed along the same lines under similar circumstances."

He said he found that Lincoln was "very much misunderstood in his day and very unfairly criticized," and so he looked for the cause.

"It is not generally recognized that the government which Lincoln's government succeeded and supplanted—the Buchanan government—was the decayed end of an aristocracy which had seized this country, and Lincoln came out of the West like a new liberator, practically the first great American who was indigenous to the soil, to the rude conditions that make our best men."

Was Subject to Ridicule.

"Therefore, it was perfectly natural that a government and a group which had almost established a court and which conducted its international affairs on the rules of the 'best circles in Europe, should look askance at this man, who was long and simple and awkward, and utterly unacquainted with the manners of the circle he was supplanting. So the reproach of awkwardness and gawkiness and 'crudeness' which was applied to him were the natural terms for an elegant, silk-shirted product of convention to use."

"Why did you decide to make a statue of Lincoln?"

Borglum replied: "I have great sympathy with the Western character, in fact, with all the frontier characters of our history. Washington was a frontier character. Lincoln occupied the middle part of our history in the same way. I heard a great deal about Lincoln, as a child, from my father. I began my study of Lincoln out of personal regard for one of our greatest patriots."

Statues Wrongly Conceived.

"I found the statues of Lincoln I found very awkward and crude, intending to be natural, or else they were artificial and mannered. Two of the most important statues, made by the two most important sculptors, are perhaps the most false and artificial. One makes him look like an actor like a curly-headed, brooding Hamlet, and the other looks like a Sunday school teacher accepting a scolding."

"Neither one gives any idea of the weight

Oil and Milk.
South Greensburg, Pennsylvania,
Feb. 12.—Snack thieves have been stealing large numbers of milk bottles in South Greensburg, recently.
Then a score of women got their heads together, bought castor oil in liberal quantities, mixed the oil with the milk, refilled the bottles with the doped milk and placed the bottles
where the day's supply would ordinarily be found. There has been no milk thieving in the last two or three days.

The Badge of Efficiency Is Service!

THE BADGE OF EFFICIENCY, WHETHER IT be in the individual or the business enterprise, is satisfactory service. And in no contingency does SERVICE carry greater significance than when YOU START TO BUILD.

TIME IS ALWAYS PRECIOUS. IN CONSTRUCTION work TIME IS ACTUALLY MONEY. Wages are high. Every minute is golden with carpenters about. Nothing can be more annoying than DELAY IN DELIVERY OF SEED-ED MATERIAL. To construct economically everything must move like clock-work.

AGAIN YOU MUST HAVE QUALITY. THAT is to say your material must not only be right, BUT OF CORRECT DIMENSION as needed. How gratifying indeed to be able to call your lumber dealer KNOWING IN ADVANCE THAT HE HAS JUST WHAT YOU WANT and that he will DELIVER IT ON TIME!

WE ARE PARTICULARLY PROUD OF OUR LUMBER. We know before we receive it ourselves that IT'S CUT RIGHT. We can GUARANTEE its quality. In fact, our slogan is "PERFECT QUALITY" and this guarantee is indelibly ingrained in every single stick of it we sell.

ADDED TO THIS IS OUR HABIT OF SERVICE. We expect to give you what you want where and when you want it. And added to all this we afford you the advantage of buying in bulk for we handle practically everything known to building material and accessories. No need to go elsewhere. No necessity in waste time "shopping around." This saves you TIME. This eliminates WORRY. IN THE END THIS SAVES YOU MONEY.

THINK ALL THIS OVER. IF YOU'VE never dealt with us ask someone who has. We're satisfied to rest our case in the matter of SERVICE with any of our patrons. WE ALWAYS MAKE GOOD and we're seeking opportunity to prove our claims to you.

Bertha Slayton and Hugh V. O'Connell, two of the many well known, famous in a scene from "Nightie Night," proclaimed the funniest play ever written, which comes to the Grand Monday night, Feb. 15th, under personal direction of the Solinas and Adolph Klemmer. "Nightie Night," which comes here with the same settings and entire production as presented in New York for over a year at the Princess Theater, is described as a continuous uproar of laughter, a play that is clean as well as funny, that sends the audience home with a feeling of well being—a feeling that there is no such thing as a free lunch. With exquisite skill, the authors have placed their characters in some of the most ludicrously funny situations and then gracefully got them out of their difficulties. Considerable of the fun in "Nightie Night" is in being able to stand aloof and see others in a predicament which anyone would concede to be tragic if he falling oneself, but the authors, Martha M. Stanley and Adolph Matthews, have cooked situations so uproariously funny to an outsider, and complications so varied yet so natural under the existing circumstances, that the audience goes home at the end of the play exhausted with convulsions of side-splitting laughter.—Adv.

meeting Friday. A constitution was adopted and a letter read from Mrs. Sarah F. Gagle, of Columbus, branch president of the International Order of King's Daughters and Sons. Meetings will be held the second Monday in each month. Officers are: Mrs. Kathryn Whistler, leader; Miss Marion Scatter, assistant leader; Miss Dorothy Thibaut, secretary; Miss Gertrude Lear, assistant secretary, and Miss Doris Laffer, treasurer.

Calvary Church Revival.
The revival services at Calvary church are continuing to increase in interest and attendance. Each evening brings many new facts. There will be special services at both morning and evening hours of worship on Sunday. A special sermon by the pastor, special singing by Mr. Reep, and by the chorus choir.

MANY FACIAL DEFECTS ARE CAUSED BY EYE STRAIN

Haven't you often noticed people who squint, and whose foreheads become wrinkled permanently therefrom? You doubtless have. But did you know that most of that comes from some defect of vision? Squinting is often an attempt to see normally when the eyes are in an abnormal condition. A person who squints would be wise to have his eyes examined.

Enthusiasm!

GREAT achievements are seldom, if ever, possible without enthusiasm. It is the spark of enthusiasm which conquers obstacles and multiplies an individual's or institution's power to attain its purpose and ideals. The spirit which animates this organization is enthusiasm—a keen appreciation of the joy of rendering a helpful service to the community.

THE HUB OF COMMERCE.

Daily Proverb—"The inventions of necessity are older than those of pleasure."

With houses so scarce as they are, the general tendency is liable to lean toward "marrying on."

There's this to be said, the bonus was mighty common with the fellows who didn't fight.

"Beef," says a paragraph, "is getting cheaper and cheaper on the hoof." But so few families, especially small ones, buy their beef on the hoof.

When it comes to the matter of paying, either an indemnity or a war debt, it seems mighty easy for a nation to acquire the "manana" habit.

These are the days when the thrifty housewife who put up fifty-cent eggs for winter has a sort of a suspicion that she has been "done."

There's a lot of trouble in this old world of ours, of course, but let us not overlook the fact that there is also a lot of happiness. Be careful for which you hunt.

If we get the thing correctly, that court of inquiry is of the opinion that a dog sled comes in mighty handy on a balloon trip.

Possibly another reason for a lack of law observance in connection with prohibition enforcement is that we are having too little government by law and too much by man also in that line.

An Oklahoma legislator wants to make snoring a criminal offense. At this distance it looks as though the fool-killer had been neglecting his work.

We can hardly agree with the Chicago psychopath in his stand that hysterical reformers are usually nuts. A lot of them assume the hysteria for the money there is in the game.

Appropos of the island of Yap, which we were told had been awarded to us, it is just possible that somebody switched the title while we weren't looking.

A recent convention of plumbers was delayed while the chairman went back to the shop for a level.—St. Paul News.

What was the matter with his helper?

If we get the situation correctly, Great Britain is simply giving us a hint that we could cancel the war debt she owes us without engendering ill-feeling on her part.

Mr. Ford ought to employ a few more bright young men to conduct magazines for him, and then he would be in trouble all the time.—Hochester, New York, Democrat and Chronicle.

Well, he has to have somebody conduct them for him, doesn't he?

What we want to know is whether, when the test between battle-ship and aeroplane is pulled off, the battle-ship is to be permitted to take a few shots at the plane while the plane seeks to destroy the ship.

Miss Florence Walton, the satirical expert, deems that Chicagoans are clumsy dancers, though she does not go so far as to say we shake a wicked hoof.—Chicago News.

But Florence always was kindly. We've known it ever since she once told a friend of ours he waited divinely.

Jack Warner can't understand how Adam and Eve withstood the winter seasons when Ohio was the garden of Eden. "Phaw, Jack! Don't you remember back fifty years ago when we were taught about the tropical vegetation which grew all about us here before old Mother Earth took her shift?"

Come to think of it, although we are a 410 member of the Columbus Art Association, we don't recall Ryder, the painter. We know Bob, the paragrapher, having enlisted in the same town and fought with him in the World war. He was to 431, but we can't think of our old comrade as a Barnard painter. Unless, of course, he was tiding up a place for his speaking station.—Columbus Citizen.

It's always possible that Bob may have become inspired and gone in for the barnyard stuff upon the occasion of one of his many visits to Cleveland Heights to get revenge on wife's relatives.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Few are remembered by anybody save their grandchildren forty or fifty years after they are dead.

A few came out careers that are memorable, and of these, only a select half dozen in the world, perhaps, receive universal homage. Of these is Lincoln. He was a plain man, and the plain man takes him to his bosom, studies the story of his life as a guide to conduct, and thanks Providence that among the earth's millions of necessary men, an occasional sublime idealist should be.

We look on Lincoln with a little awe, and yet with friendliness. Not many of us could have been to the line as he did; few could have accepted honor and admiration with so little solicitation.

His doctrine of liberty set the torch alight in many hearts and gave new hope to thousands. An uncouth child of the backwoods, he became a masterly writer. A product of the small town, he learned to thrill the world with oratory. A humble, plodding youth, he rose to lead mankind to a new vision of brotherhood.

When the nation is full of unrest, when want and the grim, hard struggle for existence seem about to overpower us, let us pause and take a new lease on courage. It was not for a day that a Lincoln was born in America. It was not in vain that his life was passed among our forefathers.

IMMENSITY OF THE UNIVERSE.

The recent measuring of the star, Betelgeuse, by astronomers marked an advance in this science in which so much has already been accomplished since the invention of the telescope by Galileo centuries ago. It seemed a wonderful achievement when first the distance around the earth was calculated, and when the observers and higher mathematicians announced that they knew how far it is to the sun mankind began to realize that there may be practical possibilities of some day conquering the universe.

It is a big task to which astronomers set themselves when they attempt to measure astral distances. If the earth, for instance, were a pebble half an inch in diameter, it would wheel its yearly circle about a sun four and a half feet across, at a distance of 500 feet. The nearest star, Alpha Centauri, would then be 25,000 miles away, and as big as the sun. The Milky way would be encompassed on this scale by a circle of 100,000,000 miles.

Pick up a pebble some time. Compare it to the earth, to all you see around you, and to all the countless places where you have never been. Then think how vast is the known universe.

SERVICE BY THE PRESS.

Occasionally some persons grow curious as to why the law ordains that so many records of an official nature be regarded as public and why the newspapers publish so many items of that character. The curious were answered the other day when wife, No. 1, observed in the marriage license announcements in a Harrisburg newspaper that her husband had obtained a permit to marry wife, No. 2, in Pennsylvania. Without such publication it is probable that the man's first mate might never have learned of the crime committed against her and society and the husband would have escaped detection.

This is but one type of public service the newspaper performs. There are numerous others. Many of them seem like commonplace. Ordinarily the marriage license list, as published, has genuine interest for many persons. Occasionally, as in the instance cited, it is the means of detecting bigamy, which after all is the serious purpose of the law in making these records accessible to the public.

It is to the credit of the nation's founders that they saw to it that the newspapers should not be denied permission to examine these records, which hidden could be the potential cause of much wrongdoing and injustice. It is a right that should be safeguarded at every turn quite as much by the public served as by the newspaper which serves.

How times have changed! Our memory goes back to a time when government ownership or control was offered as a panacea for just about every old thing.

The two young Zion City women who have been sent to New York City with instructions to remain until they have wiped out the sin there manifestly have been sentenced for life.

Did you ever stop to think what a revolution in the matter of occupations would be forced upon us if all the people really became as good as we seem to want them to be, and are all the time trying to make them to be.—Columbus Dispatch.

Just think what a mighty army of self-constituted reformers it would put out of business.

MR. HARDING'S TASK.

[Washington Star.]

Mr. Harding is coming to the White House with a large amount of information, as to both men and measures. He discussed both with his callers at Marion, and is continuing the discussion with his callers in Florida.

And those callers have represented both parties, all factions of both parties, and all sections of the union. Probably no man selected for our chief command ever took such pains prior to assuming his duties to sound public sentiment in the possible quarters about the issues he is to deal with in office.

But large and varied as that stock of information is, it is none too large. Mr. Harding will need all of it. His task is colossal. Expectation is high. The people are restive under their burdens and want them lightened. Maybe they want them lightened more rapidly than the thing can be done. Mr. Harding is not, and does not claim to be, a miracle man. He was particular in his campaign last fall to disclaim super powers but those associated with normal things and processes. He pledged himself no "further" than to devote the powers he possessed to the public interests.

This should be remembered now. In fact, the people owe it as much to themselves as to him not to increase either the size or the difficulty of his task—not to meet him on the threshold of his engagement with impossible demands, or to a spirit of impatience the effect of which would be his annoyance, and maybe confusion.

LIFE'S VAUDEVILLE.

[By James Hall Taylor.]

SMALLPOX AND VACCINATION.

Smallpox we have always with us. After a year passes when it is unknown in Ohio.

Of course the disease, as it manifests itself today, is comparatively mild—when compared with its severity of years ago.

But why? Because of Jenner's great discovery—because of vaccination.

Hardly ever do we see a case of unmodified variola at the present time; nearly all cases encountered are varioloid—smallpox, indeed, but modified and ameliorated by vaccination. Besides, doubtless, the American people, owing to repeated vaccinations, from generation to generation are gradually becoming immune to the virus of the plague.

So should we not have—shall we not have—compulsory vaccination in Ohio? I know we have those, and not a few of them, who in their ignorance and fear say—no; but enlightened medical men and social scientists, almost without exception, say—yes.

What does the record show? Has vaccination helped or harmed the world? Let's consider the record of London, England. From 1860 to 1873, the mortality from smallpox was 417 per 100,000 population.

From 1873 to 1877, it was 428 per hundred thousand.

From 1877 to 1880, it was 502 per hundred thousand.

Vaccination was not yet in existence.

But in 1878 vaccination was introduced.

By 1810, the death rate from smallpox had fallen to 204 per 100,000.

By 1835, to eighty-three per hundred thousand.

By 1850, to forty per hundred thousand.

By 1870, to twenty-eight per hundred thousand.

Pretty good showing, eh?

But London, in fancied security, grew careless. Vaccination was not compulsory; and many persons declined to be vaccinated, or neglected to be vaccinated. So the great epidemic of 1871 came; and 242 per 100,000 of population died from smallpox.

London paid the price of her carelessness. Nearly all of those who died had never been vaccinated.

Promptly London made vaccination compulsory.

And what of London's record since that time?

From 1872 to 1880, the mortality from smallpox was only twenty-two per hundred thousand of population.

From 1881 to 1885, twenty-nine per hundred thousand.

From 1886 to 1894, one per hundred thousand.

And in 1889 there was not a single death from smallpox—in that greatest metropolis of the world.

The records of Scotland and Wales are equally reassuring.

Vaccination does protect from smallpox.

But you would speak of the dangers of vaccination?

Vaccination, as done in the far past—the scab method, or arm-to-arm method—had its dangers; but vaccination as done today—from pure and aseptic virus contained in hermetically sealed holders—is both sure and safe. The present dangers from vaccination are so insignificant as to be practically negligible.

We have smallpox in Ohio.

Shall we not have compulsory vaccination?

Does not the greatest good to the greatest number demand it?

OUR SEATS OF LEARNING.

"The Lord of Learning" who upraised mankind from being silent brutes to singing men.

Learning may be good—or bad; it may upraise mankind—or it may not.

It may make singing men out of silent brutes; or it may do something entirely different.

Educate the physical alone in man—and you make a magnificent muscular animal of him.

Educate the mental alone in man—and you make an unscrupulous and merciless monster of him.

Educate the moral alone in man—and you make an ignorant and superstitious coward of him.

All education should be all-round education.

All learning should be broad and liberal learning.

And all learning should be thorough learning.

As Pope has said:

"A little learning is a dangerous thing."

"Prink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring; These shallow draughts intoxicate the brain; And drinking largely sobers us again."

And "tis so.

The individual who knows the most—vaunts his knowledge the least; the man possessed of the most wisdom is the most modest in revealing the fact.

Yes, learning may be a good thing, or it may be a bad thing. Young has asserted:

"Your learning, like the lunar beam, affords light, but not heat; it leaves you undevoted—Frozen at heart, while speculation shines."

Cowper has declared:

"By nature itself, received into a mind By nature weak, or viciously inclined, Serves but to lead philosophers astray— Where children would with ease discern the way."

So what of our learning in America? What of our American seats of learning? Are they teaching what they should teach—as it should be taught? Are they affording moral education—as well as physical and mental education? Some of our university and college professors are teaching class consciousness and class discrimination. Is that the right kind of moral education for the youth of this land? A school property is owned by a certain university; from that school property the university has received rental. And recently the business manager of the university protested strongly when the courts closed this particular saloon—among others. This saloon was a common meeting-place for men and women; and the university received revenue from the illegal and immoral business; and the university business management desired the state or affairs to continue.

What kind of learning are we fostering in this country?

AND HE DID.

AND HE DID.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

The schools of the city were closed during the morning funeral hour of Miss Mattie Peters.

Residents of Marietta were joyous over the prospects of securing an interurban line from Marion.

Friends of Colonel T. C. Bowen were grooming him for police judge. It was announced that as a result of the city's growth it was entitled to such an official after July 1.

If Greece maintains her stubborn attitude, the allies will yet fall to love with Turkey.

No doubt Ireland would be content with the measure of home rule the United States grants New York.

Austria's suffering didn't touch the hearts of her conquerors until she threatened to turn Bolshevik.

A man is old when he shudders with disgust at the memory of the fool things he did as a college student.

Considering the leniency of the allies, German criticism of the peace terms appears to be purely academic.

Cupid might get better results if he would discard his bow and arrow and use apartment house keys as weapons.

Republic. A land in which each citizen is free to like what an official does, or failing to like it, lump it.

If, as the sentimentalists say, the right side always wins, wouldn't it be cheaper to disarm and turn righteously?

WELCOME, STRANGER

A Stranger in Our Midst—He Tells Us This Story.

"A few weeks ago I secured a position in your city and very soon expect to bring my family here to live. Monday I met one of Schan-der's clerks—who immediately invited us to call at their store and assured me that we would be welcome
whether we came to buy or not.
After receiving such an invitation—to be sure—we called. And such hospitality. The salesman who took us in charge made us just as welcome as he possibly could have a guest in his own home. We were shown all over the store from the first floor to the Model Flat on the third—not hurriedly but we were allowed to loiter—And before we left the salesman played several of our choice selections on the Cheney.
Well—when we left that store after making a few small purchases, my wife and I both declared that Schan-der's was the best place to shop that we had ever been in and when we furnish our new home in Marion we are going to call on them again at 188 south Main street."—Adv.

RACE CIRCUIT IS FORMED WITH MARION AS MEMBER

A Meeting Is Held at Upper Sandusky.

Secretaries of fair boards and superintendents of speed committees from Wyandot, Marion, Crawford and Seneca counties held a meeting in the office of the county fair board in the court-house Thursday for the purpose of forming a race circuit. Friday's Upper Sandusky Circuit, Ira T. Mattoon presided at the meeting and Arthur N. Cager, of Tiffin, acted as secretary. Those present were: J. W. Haller and T. E. Cline, of Tiffin; J. H. Eymann, of Marion; George W. Raub, of LaPorte; Mr. Mattoon, R. E. Clith, Charles Neate, A. F. Schoenberger, Upper Sandusky; G. T. Rokestraw, A. N. Cager, S. W. Rohrer and R. C. Barnes of Tiffin.

Morrow county, also a member of the circuit, had no representatives present, but will be represented at the next meeting. Richland county is also being urged to join. The class of races, stake raising, entry fees and other matters pertaining to fairs were discussed and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Bucyrus February 22. The stake races in the circuit will be uniform for all the fairs giving stake races and the class races will be the same in regards to entrance, stall, straw and freight. The members favor a plan to make every heat a race and no gambling will be allowed on the circuit. The visiting members were well pleased with the fine office of the local secretary, which is located in the probate court room, and the county fair board wishes to thank Judge Charles F. Cline and Deputy Daniel Reynolds for the use of the room.

NO SORE SPOTS IN THE HOUSE

Lonesome Butterfly will pay more tax than anybody else expects to pay," said President Chester. "Every citizen who enjoys the benefits and protection of government should pay his taxes, leave Ohio, or go to jail. Every tax dodger and hungry horde of tax spenders in Ohio want the classification amendment made a part of our constitution," he said.

FROM EAST TO WEST THIS SONG HIT SPREADS

"Lonesome Butterfly" is budding into one of the most sensational song successes published in recent years. Its fascinating melody blends charmingly with a rare lyric telling a story that will never grow old, an actual experience of the composer who chanced to meet On the Great White Way the girl of his boyhood days. We print a few bars of the chorus of this great song, one of the most talked of at the present time.

I woke up in the night last night. Jones's eye was tied up and a hole in the quilt was on top of a bare place and I was almost dead and my teeth was rattling and I did not go to sleep for quite a while. I pulled the quilt around the other way but it is square and the hole is right in the middle of it so it does not make any difference. Some of these nights I am going to tick my leg out through that hole and when a one-legged little boy comes downstairs in the morning my mother is going to be sorry that she did not fix that hole.

I guess she thinks it is kinda nice to have a hole like that in a quilt in the summer time, but if she ever aint under it in the winter she would not think it was so funny. My father said it was the coldest night in the winter when I was eating breakfast, and my hands was blue and felt like clubs and my mother made me come out in the kitchen and soak them in hot water and the ends of my fingers hurt so that if I was a girl I would of cried. A fella would like to be a girl sometimes so he could better when he is hurt.

But when I had fed my face and got on my mittens and all the clothes I had and had taken my sled down in the hill, I was glad it was so cold in the night because the snow on the hill was about as hard as ice, and I started at the top of our hill and went down it like a cannon and across the pond as fast that I hit the railroad bank so hard that I went off the sled and scraped my nose so hard that it took a whole piece of my mother's court plaster to cover it when I got home. And she said for the love of mike to try to get to school without anything else happening to me.

When I got to school my nose was covered with court plaster and

GARIS' BEDTIME STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE MAGPIE.

[BY HOWARD B. GARIS.]
[Copyright 1921, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

"Uncle Wiggily, will you take this basket of cake over to Mrs. Whiblewobble's duck farm, for me?" said the bunny gentleman. "I never heard of a pie but I said if you have no place to go, I wish you would go there."

"I shall be delighted to go over to Mrs. Whiblewobble's for you," said Uncle Wiggily, with a low and polite bow of his tail. "But what is the basket, if you please?"

"Mrs. Fuzzy Wuzzey gave Uncle Wiggily the basket of broken cakes, left over from Christmas and New Year's Eve, and soon the bunny gentleman was hopping away over the fields and through the woods on his way to the duck lady's house."

Mrs. Whiblewobble was very glad to get the odds and ends of cake, and when she had emptied the basket she gave it back to Uncle Wiggily to take to Nurse Jane.

"And be sure and thank her for me," Mrs. Fuzzy Wuzzey is very kind," said Mrs. Whiblewobble.

"Yes, indeed, she is," agreed Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped on his way with the empty basket. He had not gone very far, and he was wondering if he would have an adventure that day, when, all of a sudden, he heard a voice saying:

"I'm a pie! I'm a pie! I'm up so high. Almost to the sky. But, all the same, I'm a pie! A pie!"

"Well, that is very strange, to say the least," spoke Uncle Wiggily, half out loud. "I wonder where a pie can be, up so high? Perhaps Mother Goose tried to toss it up to the moon in the moon."

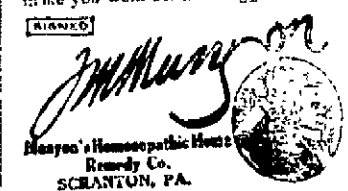

Uncle Wiggily looked up into the tree near him, but he saw no pie. He did see, however, a black bird, almost like a crow, except that it had some white feathers, and as the bunny gentleman looked up the bird sang again:

"I'm a pie! I'm a pie! I'm up so high!"
"Here! What do you mean, by saying you're a pie, when you are not?" asked Uncle Wiggily, laughing a little. "You are up high—I can see that. But you are never a pie."

"Oh, yes I am!" said the bird in a sort of whistling voice. "I'm a magpie, a bird which is very seldom seen in this country, though there used to be many of us in England. I'm a magpie, though they call me pie for short, and that's what I am. I'm a pie! I'm a pie, and I'm up."

came to his hollow stump bungalow, and met Nurse Jane. "See can bake pies, but she never saw a magpie bird."

"I'll be very glad to come," the magpie answered. "And if it isn't too much trouble to you I'll just snuggle down in your basket—unless you have something in it."

"No," said the bunny. "It has cake in it but it is empty now, and it will be just the place for a pie—a magpie bird," and Uncle Wiggily laughed and twinkled his pink nose.

So the magpie bird snuggled down in the bunny's basket, and off hopped Mr. Longears, wondering what Nurse Jane would say to the company he was bringing home.

Uncle Wiggily was almost at his hollow stump bungalow, and he thought the magpie must be asleep.

as he was so quiet in the basket when all of a sudden, out flew a bushy headed bird with a long tail. "Ah ha!" Just in the nick of time the Fox. "I'll make sure you get something good that you have not had before."

"There it is!" said the bunny. "I thought you would want to see the magpie."

"Yes, there is something good," barked the fox. "I can see cake crumbs between the basket tracks and maybe there is a pie in it, too."

"Then, all of a sudden the bird awakened and sang:

"I'm a pie! I'm a pie! I'm not up high, but I'm a pie! I'm a pie!"
"But I told you there was something good in the basket!" You can't fool me!" cried the fox. "I don't like this kind of pie!" Then away he ran and the bunny took the magpie bird to Nurse Jane, who was glad to see the queer chap. Once again the Fox was fooled.

Failure of Insulation is Not Excepted in the Philadelphia Two-Year Guarantee

THE separators or insulators are an essential part of a storage battery. Properly constructed they should last as long as any other part of the battery. Under the Philadelphia Two-Year Guarantee, failure of insulation is a basis for adjustment just the same as the failure of any other part.

But Philadelphia insulation does not fail, for three reasons: 1. Philadelphia battery plates are long lived, but the patented separators, of quarter-sawn hard wood, are sufficiently strong to outlast the plates.

2. The rigidity of the Diamond Grid relieves them from pressure and strain.

3. The Philco Slotted Retainers offer still further protection by preventing contact between the separators and the positive plates.

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable cathartic.

One gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels to move and act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

"If you have a 'dark brown mouth'—had breath—a dull, tired feeling—back headache—torpid—constipation, you will find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep bright. Try them. 15c and 50c.

Eat less meat and take Salts for Backache or Bladder trouble.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, aching, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. The kidneys clog, and you must help them by rubbing the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At last you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from a backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach ache, sour, watery coated mouth and feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Get less meat, drink lots of water, use a laxative and a pharmaceutical foundry of J. J. Salts to water, a valuable remedy in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. The famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been tried for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate the body to neutralize the acids, to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

J. J. Salts is inexpensive, can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent fruit-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep the kidneys in normal action. Do not then sell lots of diet pills to folks who believe in overeating kidney trouble while it is just trouble.—Adm

Mrs. Werner Tells How They Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Camden, N. J.—"Before my baby was born I was run-down and weak, had pains in my back and stomach, was very nervous and would have fainting spells. I certainly suffered awfully with those nervous fainting spells. I did not know anyone at that time and used to scream. A doctor treated me for the spells but did not seem to do much good. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills before so I began taking them again. I soon felt a change and could do my work without pain and was cured of the nervous spells. Now I have a nice fat baby girl and had an easy time at birth, thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." Mrs. WILLIAM WERNER, 1216 Van Hook St., Camden, N. J.

When a wife finds her energies flagging, she is weak, nervous, suffering from backache, the doctor is called, but she is usually told to build her system up at once by taking that standard woman's medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as did Mrs. Werner.

If there is anything about your condition you do not understand write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., in regard to your health.

me. The contents of the others, while dumped out have not been treated in this way."

She picked up a crumpled and torn piece of heavy letter paper as she spoke, and held it out to me with her eyes carefully averted from the writing upon it.

"Would you mind telling me from whom this letter is?" she said. "Also tell me just what has been done to it."

I took it from her with a hand that trembled.

"It is one of Daddy's letters to me, torn in two," I said, then I held it toward her impulsively.

"There is nothing here which you can not see, Lillian," I said, earnestly. "Think of the profane eyes that must have been reading them."

"Don't think of it," she returned bluntly. "It will do you no good. Just look at this."

She had snatched out the crumpled piece of paper—a part of a letter from which the other part had been torn—and as she held it up I saw that it had been slashed or punched as with a knife or stiletto.

"May I ask you a great favor, Madge?" Lillian asked bravely.

"You know that," I returned.

"Then please do nothing with these things until it is warm, and I have time to help you. I want to go over them all, and I don't want any one of them straightened out until I can be with you to tabulate them. May I not lock the door and leave the room undisturbed? No one else can see it. If the house

gets warm and is aired sufficiently by tonight we might sleep here—Marion could stay over at Mrs. Durfee's, and then you and I could sort these things at our leisure."

I saw that there was something vital behind the curious request that she had made, and my confidence in her as well as my affection for her made me respond heartily.

"You know that I will do whatever you wish, dear girl."

"Thank you."

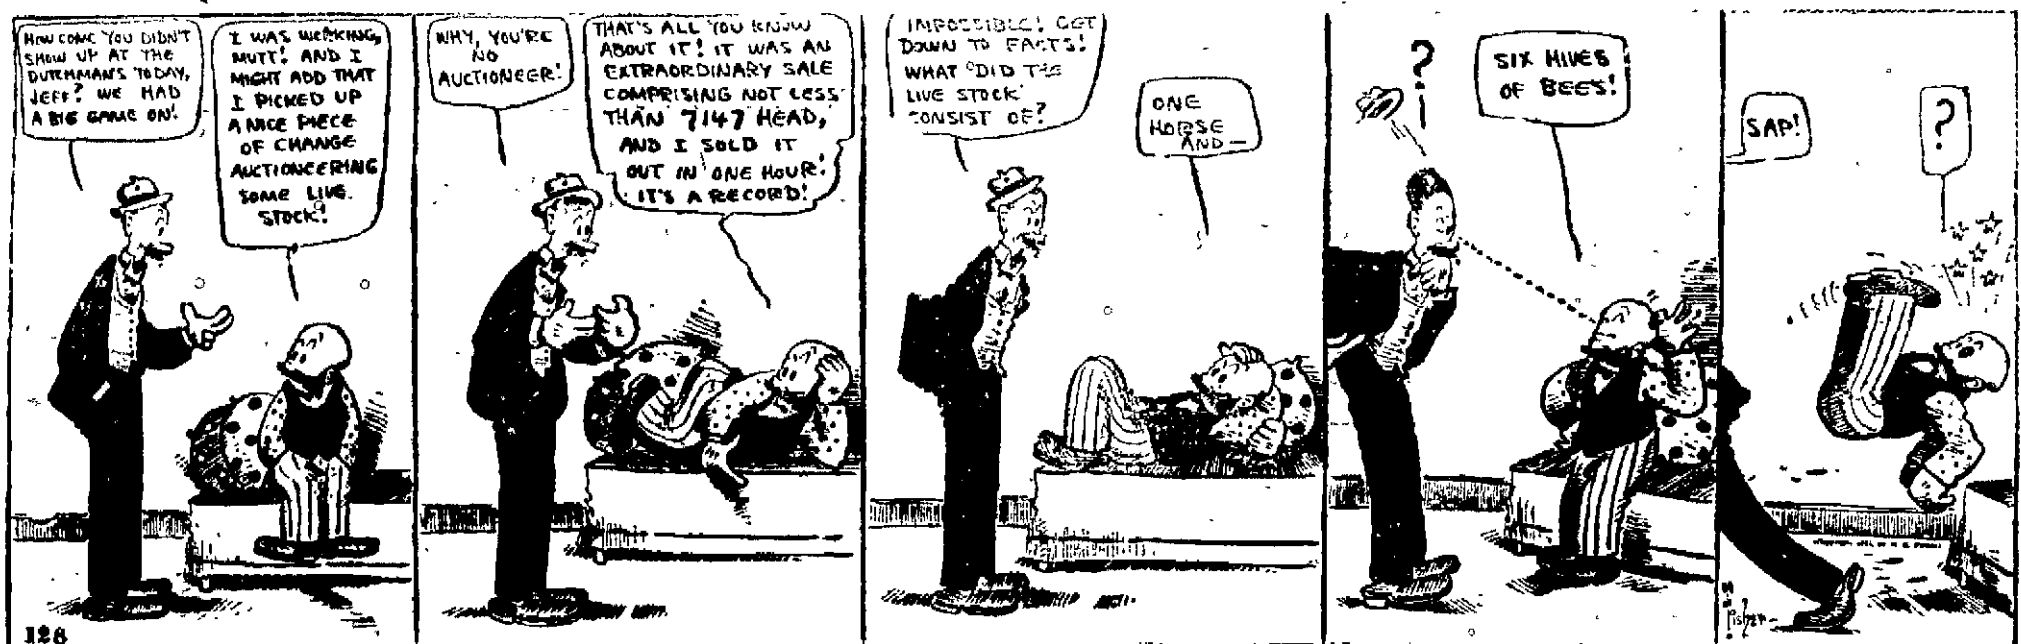

She put out her hand, drew me up from the floor, and moved with me toward the door. I locked it with much the feeling of covering a grave.

"Now," said Lillian briskly; and I knew that she meant to keep my mind away from that locked room.

Oklahoma Farmer Gives Sound Advice on Avoiding Sickness.— Used Black-Draught
30 Years.

Cameron, Okla.—"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for about thirty years, and certainly ought to know by this time what a good medicine it is." Says T. J. Bettle, a well-known farmer of this place. Mr. Bettle has passed his sixtieth year, and declares his health is still in good, "and I can say Black-Draught did its part."

"Where there is a lot of malaria, liver medicine is a necessity, and have never found one better than Black-Draught," continues the Oklahoma man. "It is one that I know to be reliable in cases of indigestion, flatulency, stomach, constipation, jaundice, and all the ailments of the liver. I think it has done me a world of good. We use it for the family, and it gives satisfaction."

"Most trouble, or sickness, comes from the liver, and if taken in time can be avoided. That is why I use Black-Draught as I do. I am much pleased with results obtained."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and acts as a gentle, but stimulating the liver, and thus increase the normal flow of bile through the intestines. It assists in the discharge of food, and relieves constipation in a prompt and natural way.

Ask your druggist for a package to-day. Insist on Thedford's. NC12

WINDING HIGH LOSES TO MANSFIELD LAST NIGHT

Dropping Chance To Win North Central Title.

RE OF SCHOOL GAME IS THIRTY-SEVEN TO TWENTY

field Springs Puzzle Play high Locals Can Not Solve in Time.

Losses of Harding High school's title were shattered last night as the local quintet lost at Mansfield, twenty-seven to twenty.

The game was not indicative that the school has experienced a great deal of difficulty in doing away with the locals, but to the contrary, the game was hard and closely fought, and could have been called a draw until the last minutes when the Mansfield started a scoring festival and led in the ball from almost any point on the floor.

Harding started the scoring with field goals in the first few minutes of play then Mansfield tightened up and returned with a field goal and a foul and the scoring kept in this close manner throughout the game.

Minard who played excellent floor game had extremely hard luck on shots while Phillian closely guarded and could not start on his usual basket shooting form. The score at the end of the half was twelve to ten in Mansfield's favor.

The second period the locals led out strong, Minard tying up score with a field goal in the third minute of play. At this time Phillian was taken from the game as he acquired the allotted amount of fouls and Wiedemann substituted. Mansfield's stock took a jump by the scoring of field goals and a four point lead, eight minutes to play, the field outfit hit a lucky streak and the ball from almost any point on the floor.

Wiedemann taken out, Knachel taking his place and Neshorter going in at the end. Following this by a few minutes Knachel was taken out due to an injured ankle. This necessitated another change in the line and somewhat weakened the team's strength, and although the locals fought to the "last bell" they were unable to stage a comeback.

Knachel, although it did not out of the locals and its passing was poorer, it had a unique system following up shots which the locals were unable to break up.

It is believed that this was largely responsible for the locals' defeat, as they played a splendid game at the end and Phillian caged the ball out of seven throws from the loss line. Minard played a good game and caged the largest amount of field goals for his team. Bloor played best for Mansfield and was high scorer of the game.

MUCH STOLEN LOOT IS UNCOVERED IN MARION

Trail Struck at Bucyrus Leads to This City.

WHERE RAILROAD MAN'S HOME REVEALS GOODS

T. L. Brooks, of Marion, and F. Faulkner, of Willard, Taken to Willard on Theft Charges.

Through the apprehension at Bucyrus Wednesday afternoon by the Bucyrus police department of T. L. Brooks, of Marion, and F. Faulkner, of Willard, who were arrested when they tried to dispose of three cartons of stolen cigarettes to a Bucyrus dealer, a case of wholesale stealing from railroad freight cars appears to have been uncovered. Yields by officers to the home of Faulkner, at Willard, and of Brooks in Marion, disclosed several thousand dollars' worth of merchandise, all stolen, according to the authorities.

Steadfastly denying that they had stolen anything, and declaring that they had found some of the stuff and bought the rest of it from individuals, both Brooks and Faulkner stood out in their unlikely stories during a stiff grilling at Bucyrus, Thursday at the hands of Chief Trautman and Lieutenant D. R. Brown, of the Chicago division police department of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Before going to Bucyrus after the two men held at Bucyrus, Lieutenant Brown had made a search of Faulkner's home at Willard and uncovered a lot of stuff, to all appearances the fruits of freight car robberies. A large quantity of shoes was included in the stuff found there.

Trail Leads to Marion: The investigation developed that both Brooks and Faulkner were former employees of the B. & O. railroad, but that Brooks, after he had been "let out" at Willard, had gone to Marion and worked on the Erie & Ohio, and that his family was located in Marion. Both men have families.

Accompanied by Chief Trautman, Lieutenant Brown came to Marion Thursday. A visit to Brooks' home uncovered a large quantity of loot, including more than 100 pairs of shoes, approximately 300 bars of soap, something over 100 pounds of coffee, a number of men's shirts which had not been worn, a lot of sugar in packages, pancake flour in packages, etc.

Back to Their Stories. Brooks, when confronted by the facts, declared that he had bought about $25 worth of the stuff from a negro. The rest of it he declared up and down that he had found near a sign, the location of which he would not give further than to say that it was "about a mile from the railroad." In Marion, Brooks looked the officers straight in the eye and did not change color a whit as he told this bold tale. He declared that he had been out on occasions trapping, and that he had found the stuff and had brought it in in a sack, making several trips. Faulkner says that he found the stuff he had concealed at his home.

In a straw-stuffed bear Willard. As to the three cartons containing 30,000 cigarettes, which the men were trying to dispose of when arrested at Bucyrus the pair declared that the cigarettes had been turned over to them by a Willard man named O. E. Penrose, of Willard. Brooks said first that Penrose had put the cartons in his Brooks Ford car as he and Faulkner were leaving Willard in the machine. Later he said Penrose had taken the car, drove away and returned with the cigarettes.

Shoes All Over House. Shoes were found stored away all over the Brooks' house. The closets were filled with them. There was even a box with a couple of dozen pairs sitting outside the house. Many of the shoes had been worn, but only slightly, and from all of them the identifying marks had been removed, the labels sewed in the lining being torn out, numbers obliterated, etc.

Chief Trautman turned Brooks and Faulkner over to Lieutenant Brown and the men were taken back to Willard by the officer and a deputy.

An affidavit was filed against the pair at Willard, charging them with stealing three cartons of cigarettes from a merchandise car billed to Hammond, Indiana. The stuff stored in Marion is believed to have been looted from a car billed to Urbana.

Both the accused men are Southerners, having come to Ohio from Tennessee a year or more ago.

YEH, MONDAY'S THE DAY, ROMEO, DON'T FORGET HER

There Are Valentines and Valentines, and Flowers, Too.

Men and boys, here's a gentle reminder—don't forget "her" Monday. "Cause it's St. Valentine's day. Here's your chance if you are too shy to tell her that you admire her; here's your chance if you want to beat the other fellow's time; here's your chance, if you are married, to let her know how much you still care for her. You might even use it as a peace offering.

A girl or woman doesn't always like to be just told how much you care for her—she sometimes likes to be shown. So here's a little advice, show how much you think of her by saying it in flowers, or candy, or sending her a book of poems which carry a pretty sentiment.

Women, married as well as single, love once in a while to receive gifts that are not practical, gifts for the gift's sake, gifts such as flowers which are fragile, but carry a sentiment which is everlasting. Gifts such as bonbons and fruits which are pleasant to the taste, and the memory of the giver lingers long in the mind. Pretty verses, which convey the giver's sentiments, stronger than his spoken words.

The florists' shops are full of beautiful potted blooms, lovely old-fashioned and sweet-scented spring blossoms which make up beautifully into corsages or can be sent loose, with an appropriate little verse attached. In the stores there are attractive boxes holding sweets and here are pretty gift cards with appropriate verses, always something to suit every individual case.
